

Non-Traditional Acquisition of Credits and Application of Prior Knowledge

Wilmington College recognizes that not all college level learning takes place in a classroom. A maximum of 32 semester hours of credit may be earned by passing proficiency examinations, the College Level Examination Program (CLEP), general and subject examinations, as well as Advanced Placement Examinations (AP). See the Office of Academic Records for specific information on AP examination requirements.

An additional maximum of 15 semester hours of credit may be earned by experiential learning assessment.
