

AG130G : FUNDAMENTALS OF HORTICULTURE

A study of the fundamental of horticulture, emphasis on plant physiology, plant propagation, vegetable, flow, and fruit production as well as basic marketing functions. The laboratories will involve exploring the scientific method through experiment in plant propagation, seed germination as well as production of vegetables and flowers.

Credits 4

Type

Laboratory